STREET FIXING

If all the knowledge of all the individuals and organizations studying traffic safety were to be applied to the problem of building a perfect highway system for a region, the result would be startling.

Students of the subject know, in other words, more than they ever have been able to put into practice. It will be many years before their ideas can be of any considerable help, due to the expense of remodeling highway systems.

Street fixing is not enough. Streets must be re-modeled, not resurfaced. Something must be done to take parked cars off space needed for moving cars. Something must be done to enable drivers to make left-hand turns without blocking traffic from the opposite direction.

Something must be done to separate local from express traffic. Something must be done to separate lines of traffic moving in opposite directions. Something must be done about pedestrians, about railroad tracks, about roadway margins which are obstructed and about different types of vehicles moving on the same surface.

These are details of the traffic problem. Each of them represents an item of cost which would have to be met if Americans were to take advantage of existing knowledge about highway safety. A few days ago, a traffic research engineer, Dr. Miller McClintock, said it would cost $57,000,000,000 to rebuild the American street and highway system and that the whole thing would pay for itself in 43 years. Here, not in thing would pay for itself in 43 years. Here, not in thing would pay for itself in 43 years. Here, not in thing would pay for itself in 43 years.

COMPROMISING MOOD

A trial balloon for a court plan compromise finally has been sent aloft by faithful Joe Robinson. After a conference with President Roosevelt, the Arkansan, who wants to be a Supreme Court Justice, hints the administration might be satisfied now with certain changes in the lower courts and contented to forget all about the Supreme Court.

It is a pretty picture—Joe Robinson standing there holding the string on the trial balloon, to see which way the wind is blowing. He's a little ridiculous, and he knows it. But so far as anyone knows, he never has questioned an order from on high, and right now the order is for Joe to see what he can wangle out of the court plan wreckage.

But why should congressmen who have just proved to themselves and to their constituents that they don't need to fiddle with compromises on the court plan suddenly become interested in compromising? The political strategy behind the trial balloon Faithful Joe is patently holding is a little too complex for quick analysis, but the ultimate result, no doubt, is supposed to be to get Mr. Roosevelt out of a hole and to get Mr. Robinson into the Supreme Court.

SATISFACTORY

June, it should be admitted readily by all, has been exceeding expectations. Though it, too, may incur criticism before July succeeds it, the sample has been most satisfactory.

Flowers and fruit will abound everywhere by the end of the month. The country and the towns never have been greener. Nature is in an expansive mood. Peonies and roses are unusually large. Foliage is unusually dense. The crops look good. Why?

Because in May there was plenty of rain. Because all last winter there was not a single severe frost. Because all the things which made the weather before June seem less than satisfactory contributed in one way or another to the one month when, if ever, come perfect days.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, June 7.—Diary: A joint postal card from Fanny Hurst and Bob and Madge Davis, whose paths had crossed in Florence, an outrageously ribald communique from Mickey Neilan and a note from my favorite drummer boy, Jack Powell, in London. So breakfasting on fried chicken Frank V. Jones air mailed from Kentucky.

At my desk but mostly gazing at the Chatham across the roofs, hoping to wave to Bill Corum, the duelist. And then to idle among the Madison avenue shops, meeting up with Aubrey Eads, who calls himself a rag merchant, and we sat awhile in the St. Regis quaffing a cowl of seltzer and lime.

To dinner at Papa Moneta's who told me of losing his money and almost his business during recent black days, but now back in stride. Then home and talking to Percy Crosby on his Virginia estate over the telephone, and listening to "Vox Pop," now one of my favorite wireless programs.

Books are being written and newspaper editorials are reflecting a sudden return to religion. And for some reason not accountable, save general world unrest, churchmen in the metropolitan area have noticed a sharp attendance increase, especially at morning services. The noon-day services at Trinity for brokers often overflows. Indeed the gain is general and no denomination has been neglected. In the apartment house where I live the doormen tell me there has been a steady rise in the neighborhood among those who "dress up and go to services." Rousseau once observed: "There never was a time when civilization was in need of a spiritual awakening that it did not arrive."

Serious minded movie goers are huffing and puffing over what they call the "after theater high hats." They are those in evening clothes who go to such movie houses as Music Hall, the Capitol and Paramount after the play to kill off a little time before night clubs swing into high. It is declared they are not only noisy but poke fun at the screen players and otherwise spoil the picture for those who have come to enjoy and behave themselves. Several near altercations between the regulars and the interlopers have been stopped only by prompt action of ushers. It is a trifling thing, perhaps, in the life of the town but indicative of a slide brand of sportsmanship.

Personal nomination for the New York social world's most congenial couple—Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt.

The three better known head-waiters in town are probably Rene Black of the Waldorf, Gene of the Colony and Theodor Scharvas. Each of them knows the various gradations of society as perfectly as Cholly Knickerbocker. And thus are able to prevent the seating of some recent divorcee with her newest husband at a table adjoining her former husband and his newest flame. The wealthiest is Gene, who is part owner of the Colony and has a vast palazzo with hunting grounds in Italy. Theodor, until he took a tumble in the market in 1929, was also well fixed. Theodore Titze, another celebrated head-waiter in his day, now conducts his own restaurant, as does Bernard at The Mascotte.

Often a columnist gets off innocently enough on the wrong foot. Recently, in what was an attempt to praise the flibberty-gibberty talk that constitutes much of the facetious art of the actress Mary Boland, I wrote something like this: "If Mary Boland talked that way off the stage she'd drive a person nuts." Evidently Miss Boland regarded it as a back-handed compliment, for she didn't wait to write; she telegraphed: "If you talk as you write you'd drive me nuts."

Bagatelles: J. P. Morgan likes to prow around flower shops and never misses daily attendance at the flower show. . . . Clyde Beatty, if the animals don't get him, expects to retire eventually to an Ohio farm. . . . Sinclair Lewis likes to go to a strange city to write his novels. . . . Arthur Samuels was hauling off to publish a magazine this fall when his backer died suddenly. . . . George Gershwin is putting his savings into fine paintings. . . . Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist, was getting ready to give up his act when he was catapulted into an amazing vogue. . . . Jack Dempsey and his cafe backers are bowing coldly.

There is rough and ready badinage in those sporty little cafes off Broadway. In one the other evening an annoyed patron called out: "What do you have to do in this dump to get a glass of water?" And from a nearby booth someone replied: "Try setting yourself on fire!"

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, June 8.

According to the lunar aspects with major planets, this may be a day of uncertainties, perplexities and even loss, if vigilance, precaution and sound business acumen are not exercised. An element of trickery, fraud or collusion may play a part in the affairs, with particularly confusing reactions on the finances. Change or a journey may prove advantageous, especially in connection with employment. There may be trivial anxieties or irritations in the private life.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of some perplexing and dubious situations, with business and finances calling for alertness to fraud, trickery and undercurrent measures or attacks from secret enemies. These call for sagacity and bold management, possibly involving change in employment, with travel, which should result advantageously. Safeguard all private affiliations from trivial friction.

A child born on this day probably may be difficult to understand, as it may have a subtle and intriguing nature. It may be restless, versatile and fairly ingenious and original.

The Alton, Illinois, boy giant recently visited New York. It must have been a bit unusual to see New Yorkers gawking up at a midwestern skyscraper.

LUNGS

LIKE OTHER organs of the body the lungs are liable to infection and disease. Indeed, a part of the lung may readily become infected. Such common disorders as pneumonia, pleurisy and bronchitis are caused by germs that in one way or another reach the lungs.

Empyema is a rather common and often neglected form of infection. Pus accumulates within the chest cavity, a condition resulting from trouble originally confined to the interior lung. The pus is caused by germs which "there is severe pain, particularly marked in children. It is so severe as to cause extreme restlessness with inability to sleep.

The disease is quickly recognized if an x-ray picture is taken. This shows that there is an accumulation of pus within the chest. But even if this method of examination is not available, the doctor is so sure of what the trouble is that he resorts to tapping. A long hollow needle is passed between the ribs to reach that part of the chest where the pus is believed to be. If it is present it flows out through the needle.

Drainage Relieves Pain

This sounds like a painful and difficult procedure. In reality it is a simple one, quickly and painlessly done. It is of great value, not only in that it definitely confirms the presence of pus, but also it gives relief of the symptoms when large quantities can be withdrawn in this manner.

Unfortunately, not every case of the disease is so easily treated. It may be necessary to have a more radical operation. In any event there must be drainage of the pus.

When the "pus" is lowered, the patient feels better, and prompt recovery follows. Neglect is dangerous. If the pus is permitted to remain, portions of the lung may be involved. When a number of lung abscesses form the trouble is extremely difficult to treat.

"Rich Girl-Poor Girl" by FAITH BALDWIN

SYNOPSIS

Rather than take over his late father's practice and bask in the latter's glory, young Dr. Jonathan Kimber wants to make his own way in the world. He visits Dr. Alan Ballard, his father's friend, in the little town of Riverport, to ascertain if the old physician needs an assistant. As luck would have it, the aged doctor is planning to return to California and offers Jonathan his place. Dr. Ballard warns the newcomer not to tread on the toes of Dr. State Senator Sutton, who practically runs the town. Jonathan is to take over in October and will live at the Ballard house, with the stipulation that he must be kept on as the old doctor's assistant for a home as long as she lives. Dr. Ballard's niece, Rose, and her mother are expected for dinner.

CHAPTER IV

They were in his office after dinner, shortly before office hours when the side door opened and the newest girl Jonathan had ever seen in all his life put her head in. "May I—?" she asked, and came in promptly without waiting for a reply. Doctor Ballard grunted, "Warn you, Jonathan, she's not to have the run of the house. I'll have to buy a dog to keep her away after I'm gone."

"Don't talk about that," said Rose and sharply, and then smiled at Jonathan. She said, "Your Uncle Alan's Jonathan Kimber, aren't you?"

He had risen and now she came toward him and offered him a small, strong hand. Doctor Ballard, his swivel chair grunted again, asked, "Who else could he be? You're the most curious fellow of my acquaintance, Rose."

She said serenely, "Don't pay any attention to him, Doctor Kimber, Rose Ward."

She was small, and her thrush-colored hair was braided around her head. She had the bluest of eyes, a square little chin, deeply freckled across it and a laughing mouth, deeply red and sweetly lined. He stammered, holding her hand. "I—I'm very happy to see you, Miss Ward."

"Shucks," said the doctor petulantly, "it's all in the family. You're normal as a party up to Suttons. Two young people run along and get acquainted. I'm not willing to turn my patients over to you. Take him for a walk, Rose, something—"

They left the house together. Jonathan in laughter and Jonathan in embarrassment. She said, "I'm glad you'll find us pretty dull."

"You really coming up to stay?" he told her, swinging down the street beside her, very tall and thin. "I hope so. Your uncle is hitting me his house—in the fall."

She said thoughtfully, "I don't know how we'll get along without him. Then looking up she saw his quick flush and added hurriedly,

"I am afraid you will find us pretty dull," Rose said.

"I didn't mean what you thought I meant, Doctor Kimber. I was thinking of myself and my mother. He's been all the father I can remember—a darling—he's always had time for me. I used to bring my dolls over to him to have his little non-existent hearts stethoscoped. He's always wanted us to live with him. Aunt Mame did too. But mother likes her own place. She's pretty much of a despot, in a gentle way and she could never stand Uncle Alan's crazy hours."

They walked on and it seemed to Jonathan that he spent most of the time removing his hat. At least ninety per cent of the people they passed, on foot or who passed them, in cars, stopped to call out to the girl and to look curiously at him. Rose said, with a little chuckle, "You'll be all over town tonight—?"

"Yes, you. A new man in town! It's the thrill of a lifetime. Wait a minute. Traffic's apt to swing pretty suddenly around that corner." She put her hand briefly on his arm and laughed. She said, "You may be used to city traffic, so ours won't look like much to you. But it has a way of sneaking up on you if you're not careful."

She took him across town, and down toward the river. Here was the yacht club and the small very green park, maple shaded, in which children played ball and babies tumbled on the grass. The river flowed by, very alive, very blue in the sunlight.

Jonathan looked down at the girl, in her mint green linen dress, the gance and short yellow hair, the colour of honey, curling over a small head. He did not notice the man.

The girl looked back and raised her crop and called something smiling and Rose said thoughtfully, "Wonders will never cease."

The riders went on and Jonathan, looking after them asked, "Why?"

"Sally and I went to school together," Rose said. "Now and then she recognizes me. It must be," she told him seriously, "the new-man—'Sutton'?" asked Jonathan, frowning. "Oh, now I remember. . . . Your uncle told me. . . ."

"Did he? When you settle down here you won't have to be told. The Senator—he insists on his title—is our town skeleton. Oh, a well-fleshed one and really very charming. . . . But when he rattles, we dance." She glanced swiftly upward and added contritely, "I haven't any business saying that. You should come into town without prejudices. And my tongue runs away with me. Some day," she prophesied ruefully, "it's going to get me fired!"

1 This sequence of four pictures shows the superb form of Dorothy Poynton Hill in the graceful but dangerous FORWARD SOMERSAULT off the high board.

2 After a smart take-off (above), Dorothy uses the weight and position of her head to spin her body around. This shows her mid-air position.

3 Instead of the "pike" with body bent at hips—Dorothy executes the somersault the hard way—by the "layout" with body outstretched.

4 With hardly a stir, Dorothy cuts into the water. It's a perfect dive. And gives you a good idea of how healthy Dorothy Poynton Hill's nerves are.

Theater Attractions

"This Is My Affair," teaming for the first time in films Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, will be the featured attraction tonight and Tuesday at the State theater.

Taylor goes into uniform for his role of a young lieutenant secretly commissioned by the President to investigate a series of daring bank robberies. Miss Stanwyck plays a cafe entertainer with whom Taylor falls in love during his investigation of her boss, Victor McLaglen, and his man, Brian Donlevy. Donlevy is killed and Taylor and McLaglen are sentenced to be hanged for murder.

Since his mission was secret and President McKinley, the only one who knew about it, has been killed, Taylor has no one to help him until Miss Stanwyck enlists the aid of the new President, Theodore Roosevelt. Sidney Blackmer turns in the finest piece of acting he has ever done in the role of President.

"The Song of the City" and "Speed to Spare" form the double bill at the Grand which opened Sunday and will conclude Tuesday night.

Margaret Lindsay is seen in the first film as a young Italian girl, ambitious to become a singer, who meets and falls in love with Jeffrey Dean, penniless young playboy. The girl's father and her brother, Nat Pendleton, save Dean's life when he falls off a ferry boat while he is intoxicated. He remains for a time with the family, helping the men in their work of crab fishing.

A wealthy girl, whom he had tried to avoid marrying because he didn't want to live on her money, threatens to have him arrested for embezzlement of some of her money if he doesn't marry her. On their way to the wedding aboard her yacht they answer a distress call from a vessel on which Margaret Lindsay, the Italian girl, is a passenger.

The second picture, "Speed to Spare," is the story of two brothers, reared in an orphan asylum, who become auto race drivers—one, a skilled, cautious driver, and the other, a reckless young dare-devil. Through the younger one's recklessness a mechanic is killed and the older brother seriously hurt. The accident, however, brings the young man to his senses and he wins a great auto race by driving equal to his older brother's.

ITALY'S NAVAL MIGHT 'PROVED'

Mussolini Conducts Manuevers Before Marshal Blomberg

Among the ten of Italy's newest submarines, named for cities conquered during the Ethiopian war. Almost simultaneously the second attack wave broke over the fleet from both sea and air. The squadron which Mussolini was personally commanding opened fire with its anti-aircraft guns to beat off the warplanes, but was forced to maneuver to avoid the dashing fleet of destroyers careening at 40 knots.

Throughout the battle Mussolini and Von Blomberg stood at the rail or on the bridge as the due carefully pointed out every phase of the combat.

Judging by Von Blomberg's facial expression and delighted comments to his host, the demonstration of the aid Germany might expect from Italy was highly successful.

In Rome, sources close to the government said Mussolini's reply to British proposals on Spanish neutrality had reserved Italy's right to use her fleet for independent action in the event of further attacks on Italian warships in Spanish waters.

Consultation among commanders of international patrol vessels, should any of them be attacked, was said to have been accepted in principle so long as it did not bar Italy from carrying out patrols.

Gunfire Breaks Out Near Canton Plant; No One Is Injured

The road complained that strikers had torn up tracks and otherwise prevented its functions "under the law."

"We earnestly implore you to immediately take such action as will restore our property to our peaceful possession and enable us to fulfill our obligations as a common carrier," said a telegram to Davey from C. W. Galloway, vice president in charge of the road's operations and maintenance.

Shortage of materials because of "this and other strikes," the telegram added, caused the B. & O. to order on furlough starting today "several thousand men whom we are unable to keep at work."

Davey last week conferred with Republic and Sheet & Tube executives and, later, with Murray and other union leaders. The governor said only that he was "hopeful" of progress in his negotiations.

Asks Prosecution
Murray disclosed at Canton he had requested Davey to prosecute Tom L. Girdler, Republic board chairman, on a charge of possessing munitions of war in the corporation's plants. The SWOC leader said he did not find Republic listed among Ohio corporations holding permits to possess machine guns.

At Chicago, the deadline near on Mayor Edward J. Kelly's notification to Republic that municipal building codes and health regulations prohibited housing employees without a permit. He gave the corporation 48 hours to remove several hundred men who have remained in the partially operating plant.

"We will use legal means to keep the men at work," said Frank A. Lauerman, Republic management representative.

Art, The Jeweler, Makes Gift Selection For The Graduate An Easy Task

STORE CARRIES BIG SELECTION

Glad to Advise Parents Without Obligation of Any Kind

For the high school boy and girl, commencement is one of the outstanding events of early life. For the college graduate the ceremony is equally important.

High school commencement, especially, is something which occurs only once in the student's life. It is a time when boys and girls enter the estate of manhood and womanhood, when they begin to make serious preparation for life ahead of them.

Consequently, from time immemorial, the occasion has been marked by the bestowal of gifts upon the graduate. Regardless of how much the cost, or how little, the thought is the thing.

The gift becomes never-to-be-forgotten remembrance of a joyous period in life, emphasizing the step into a new stage of life.

For years, Art the jeweler has served as a gift headquarters in Salem. An extensive stock in jewelry and kindred lines has made the matter of selecting the proper gift a pleasure instead of a task.

Again this year, Art is cooperating with parents of graduates in gift selection to fit every requirement. They will be glad to advise and aid in every way possible, without obligation.

Citizens Ice Well Prepared For Summer Season

Ice to wash milady's hair? Indeed, yes! Where only hard water is available, it is not uncommon for the Citizens Ice & Coal Co. to supply orders of 25 pounds or so for this very purpose. The water at the Salem plant is run through a softener which takes out all harsh chemicals and leaves it clear and soft. Milady simply lets the ice melt—and soft water is supplied.

A COOL SUMMER, HAINAN'S THEME

Restaurant Offers Timely Suggestions for Enjoying Season

There are various ways to make summer an enjoyable event, rather than a burden. Hainan's restaurant, at this time of the year, and continuing through the sultry months, presents a welcome haven, with coolness as its theme for the season.

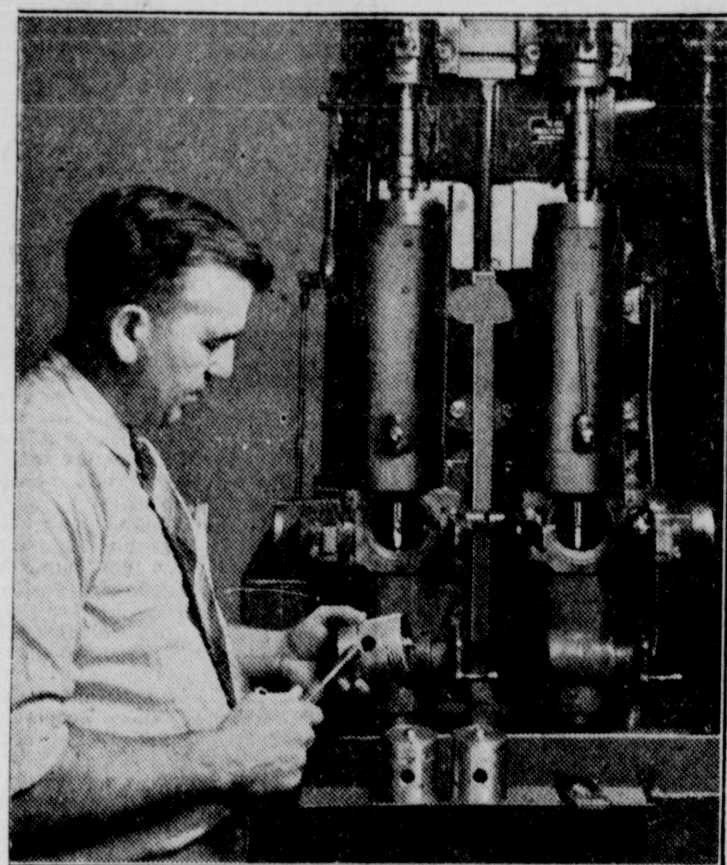

"Coolness and a menu which will help you enjoy the whole summer through, is our objective," points out Russell Hainan, owner and manager.

"Sit down, for example, to a cold plate lunch, consisting of cold baked ham, always Armour's Star or Swift's Premium, potato salad, tasty and satisfying, sliced tomatoes, Heinz sweet pickles, iced tea—doesn't that make an ideal lunch or a light snack for supper?"

"And we think during the summer that the family should eat out at least once through the week to give mother a rest from the hot kitchen. We promise that you will be comfortable, cool, attended by polite and courteous waitresses, and above all, receive a meal that will long be remembered, whether a cold plate lunch, chicken done to your liking, or a steak that is always tender."

"To the ladies who shop in the afternoon and want a place to rest, relax and cool off, we suggest you drop in and try our fountain specials or a cool, crisp salad. Hainan's do not serve intoxicating beverages."

Hudson Believes In Diamonds

For accuracy on the operation there is nothing like a diamond drill, says Ed Link, veteran machinist in the plant of the Hudson Motor Car Company. This is one of the many operations that has to be held to extremely close limits. Ed Link states that he has very little leeway on this operation. In the parlance of the machine shop the hole has to be held within plus zero and minus three-thirtieths. This means that it cannot be oversized at all nor undersize more than three-thirtieths of one-thousandth of an inch. This is splitting hairs as far as accuracy is concerned and that is why the diamond drill is used on Hudson and Terraplane piston holes drilled in the aluminum alloy pistons.

W. H. Kniseley & Son, W. Pershing st., agent for the Hudson line in this district, will be glad to tell you, without obligation, of the many other precision methods which help to make Hudson a great car.

'WHITE SEASON' MAKES ITS BOW

Keeping Togs Clean and Fresh Much Easier Than Formerly

Summer is a season of whites. At this time of the year, fashion dictates the relegation of drabness in wearing apparel to the clothes press, to be resurrected again, perhaps, when skies are dark and there's a chill in the air.

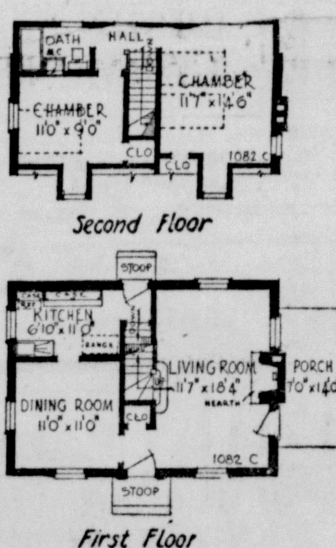

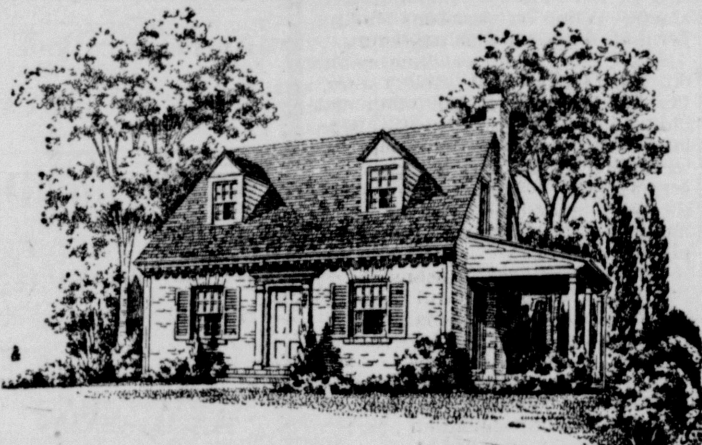

In its place there come the whites. Every summer finds the use of white rapidly increasing. Men, women and children . . . they all wear white.

The modernization and extension of cleaning facilities has much, perhaps, to do with this. White can be kept cleaner, more easily (and it must be kept clean) and the cost is so much less than it used to be.

With their thoroughly modern plant, the Paris Cleaners make it easy to be constantly in style. Their workmen are skilled in all types of cleaning and have won renown especially in the field of "spotting," removing spots and stains of all kinds from any garment.

And with their highly efficient service, you need not be without your summer-going togs very long at any time.

Colonial Home of Brick

ATTRACTIVE CONSTRUCTION. Straight walls, plumbing concentrated in one corner of the building, and complete utilization of all of the space are all elements that make for lower construction cost in building this house in any part of the country.

The charm of old colonial homes is reproduced in this authentic small home. Careful spacing of windows and doors, the inclusion of such details as an attractive open fireplace and turning stairway, and the attractive living porch all contribute to the air of complete livability.

Careful planning has given the interior many of the advantages of much larger homes. While the entire floor space is comparatively small, a spacious living room, a square dining room (generally considered the most satisfactory shape) and a complete compact kitchen occupy the first floor. A small vestibule and convenient coat closet contribute the privacy so often lacking in homes as small as this.

Two bedrooms, one of them large enough to accommodate twin beds, and a modern bathroom complete the second floor.

Hall space throughout the house has been reduced to a minimum, with doorways planned for easy circulation. The basement reached by a stairway directly opposite the rear entrance, provides space for a modern laundry and heating plant, and additional space makes it possible to plan a basement recreation room or den if desired.

Let the People's Lumber Co. explain how easily this home may be acquired.

New G.E. Range Simplifies Picnic Preparations, Too

By Salem Home Equipment, Inc.

There was a time when picnicking meant extra work for the homemaker. But no more! Nowadays, just as the homemaker's modern electric range simplifies every-day meal preparation, it can work miracles when it comes to picnics, too. So let us tell you how you can have a picnic menu that's every bit as delicious and easily prepared as any other meal from the General Electric range.

Hot potato salad and "weenies" are the high spot of this miracle picnic. And to cook them you merely place your potato salad in Electric range, and then add the frankfurters 20 minutes before the potato salad is done, there you have delightful picnic "eats" that will give your family more cause for rejoicing than any variety of sandwiches. But, believe it or not, the amazing thing is that you can lift this Thrift Cooker kettle right out of its installed well in your streamlined range and take it "as is" to the picnic. That really is a modern miracle, now isn't it?

The Thrift Cooker has completely revolutionized the preparation of hot potato salad. Did you know you can actually place sliced raw potatoes and the other ingredients of this mouth-watering concoction in your Thrift Cooker, turn on the heat, combine and "flavor" the ingredients into one tantalizing aromatic whole? There's no tedious watching or stirring to be done. And here is a grand recipe:

Hot Potato Salad

- 8 medium-sized potatoes (sliced)
- 2 small onions (sliced)
- 4 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 8 slices bacon (diced)
- 1-1/2 cup vinegar
- 1-4 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- 1 cup water
- Salt
- Pepper.

Blend ingredients and place them in the Thrift Cooker. Then turn the switch to HIGH. When steam flows freely from the vent, turn the switch to LOW and continue cooking for about 1 hour. Twenty minutes before the time's up, place frankfurters in the Thrift Cooker and they will come out juicy plump, hot, and pinkly tender.

N. Y. Giants Stagger Into First Place In National League

CARDS, PIRATES HELP TERRYMEN TO REACH LEAD

Bucs Blow Higher Than Stratosphere To Drop From First Place

By SID FEDER

Their pitching is in a sorry state; their hitting is nothing to write home about. . . but still those New York Giants are leading the National League today.

To a large extent, the Giants' sudden rise to the top lead, which they took with a 9-5 victory over Pittsburgh yesterday, may not be due so much to themselves alone as to the kindly (though unwilling) help supplied at the right moment by the Pirates and Cardinals.

They've won five of their last nine games, which is hardly sensational. As for the Pirates, they're fifth in the league, just over .260. Only two of their pitchers show a better than .500 average, Carl Hubbell and slick Castleman.

But when you figure that the Pirates have blown higher than the stratosphere, and have obligingly dropped nine of their last 15 starts, the final four in succession, and that the Cardinals are barely getting by on a woeful pitching staff, the thing begins to make sense.

The Cubs kept right on coming up yesterday by splitting a twin bill with the Boston Bees, winning the nightcap 7-2 after losing 7-1 in the first game.

In the American league, the big-time's current "hottest" outfit, the Chicago White Sox, boosted their winning streak to eight in a row by beating over Connie Mack's Athletics twice, winning 6-1 behind Ted Lyons' four-hit first-game pitching, and 5-1 in the nightcap.

That double conquest left the Sox only a few percentage points off second-place Cleveland, since the Indians dropped a 10-inning 8-7 contest to the Washington Senators. A scheduled second game was rained out. The New York Yankees, leading the loop, also lost ground, finishing on the short end of a 5-4 count to the Tigers.

The Cardinals took both games from the Phillies, the opener 7-2 and the nightcap 9-0, the latter on a forfeit in 4 1-3 innings. Umpire Ziggy Sears handed the second game to the Gas House Gang because it seemed the Phils stalled in the hope the 6 p. m. Sunday curfew would halt the battle before the legal five innings.

Alex Kampouris contributed a homer with the bases loaded as the Cincinnati Reds walloped the Dodgers 9-2. The Red Sox split with the St. Louis Browns, winning 6-5 and losing 3-2.

MILLERS LOCATE HITTING POWERS

Tie League Record In Defeating Louisville In Double Header

CHICAGO, June 7.—The Minneapolis Millers are up to their old fence-busting tricks again.

The Kels won a double bill yesterday from Louisville, and the manner in which they achieved the double victory should throw chills down the spines of opposing hurlers throughout the association.

They won the first game 22 to 0 and then took the second 18 to 7, getting 43 hits during the afternoon.

Their 40-run total tied the association record for runs during a doubleheader, which the Millers themselves set in 1932. Carl Reynolds, Minneapolis left fielder, had 10 hits in 12 times at bat, driving in 12 runs, six in each game.

The league leading Milwaukee Brewers recovered from their recent slump and took a double bill from Columbus, 6 to 1 and 11 to 6. George Blaeholder pitched brilliantly in the first game.

Indianapolis gave St. Paul another shove into the cellar by taking the first game of a scheduled double bill, 12 to 0. The second tilt was a draw at 10-10, the game being called at the end of the ninth because of the 6 o'clock Sunday law.

Bill Norman of the Saints had four home runs in as many official trips to the plate.

Toledo kept in the thick of the fight by taking two games from Kansas City, 5 to 3 and 7 to 1. Joe Sullivan pitched effectively in the first tilt and Alvin Cohen came through for the victors with a five-hit job in the second.

Between the two games, George Trautman, association president, presented Kansas City a cup awarded to the club drawing the largest opening day attendance.

Jesse Owens To Pit Speed Against Dog

CINCINNATI, June 7.—Jesse Owens former Ohio State university Negro track star, was due here today to meet promoters of a race in which he is scheduled to pit his speed against that of a racing greyhound.

John W. Masmer, manager of a dog track at nearby Harrison, said Owens would race J. R. Rogers' "Sweet Harmony" on Wednesday. Masmer said Owens wanted the race to be run over the 100 yard or 220-yard distance but that Hodges favored the futurity distance, or 126 yards more than one-quarter mile.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

NEW YORK, June 7.—This must be the "beatingest" town in the country. . . no sooner does Mickey Cochrane leave the hospital than two other guys move in. . . Al Schacht, baseball comedian, has been signed by Warner brothers for three pictures and now is taking screen tests.

Tommy Farr, who beat Max Baer and who meets Walter Neusel, June 15, sails the next day to see Braddock and Louis, which shows you how seriously he is considering a "title" bout with Max Schmeling.

COOPER-SMITH CLOSE WINNER AT INVERNESS

Nose Out Team of Armour-Thomson In Toledo Golf Tourney

TOLEDO, June 7.—One of the finest assortments of golfing talent in captivity left here today for the Oakland Hills course at Birmingham, Mich., to practice up a bit for the National Open which starts Thursday, their chore in the third annual Inverness best ball match play tourney completed.

The group faced the week at Birmingham without a financial worry. They carried a total of $4,825 between them—all won at the Inverness wars.

Horton Smith, the "Joplin Ghost," and "Light-Horse" Harry Cooper, second place in last year's open at Baltusrol, had the lion's share of the Inverness gold—$1,175. They won the four-day 129-hole classic, just nosing out veteran Tommy Armour and long-hitting Jimmy Thomson by a single point under the unique scoring system which featured the event.

The system gives each two some a plus or minus rating equal to the number of holes it is up or down in each match, and the total at the finish decides the winners.

Smith-Cooper had plus 7, and Armour-Thomson plus 6. Armour missed a 20-footer on the 126th hole which would have tossed him into a tie for the lead, and a chance to win $2,000 more on a 20 to 1 bet on which he had wagered $100 of his own money that he and Thomson would win.

The other pairs, and the amount they won, with their final standing: Ralph Guldahl-Sam Snead, plus 3, $750; Paul Runyan-Ky Laffoon, plus 1, $600; Henry Picard-Johnny Revolta, even, $500; Denny Shute-Lawson Little, minus 4, $400; Ray Mangrum-Jimmy Hines, minus 6, $300; Olin Dutra-Gene Sarazen, minus 7, $300.

The professionals scored 298 birdies and six eagles in their best-ball assault on par.

170 GOLF STARS IN OPEN EVENT
Top-Flight Pros After Title Now Held By Tony Manero

NEW YORK, June 7.—Tourney-hardened professionals, almost completely in command of American golf, are ready to grab the headlines again in the National Open golf championship this week.

There are 170 golfers in the field that starts the three day grind at the Oakland Hills club, Birmingham, Mich., Thursday and the number, 143 are professionals, a group that includes almost every first-flight pro in the nation.

Johnny Goodman, open winner in not even Goodman is given a chance of a chance to pass the pros in golf's greatest test.

Henry Picard, Jimmy Thomson, Horton Smith and Harry Cooper, winners of the Inverness invitation at Toledo; Byron Nelson, Johnny Revolta, Ky Laffoon, Denny Shute, Paul Runyan, Tony Manero, the defending champion, Ed Delles, Olin Dutra, Ralph Guldahl and Jimmy Hines are among the favorites priced at less than 20 to 1 to win the nation.

Newest addition to the list of big name golfers and the brightest bit of golfing color to cross the fairways since Walter Hogan arrived in the big time is Sam Snead.

On his record Snead tops the few crop of pros. Almost unknown a year ago, he has come to the fore with two big victories in southern tournaments and admiral showings in the Masters tournament at Atlanta, the Tournament of the Gardens at Charleston, and the P.G. A.

Champion Braddock Observes Birthday
GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 7.—Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock observed his 31st anniversary today, confident he will successfully defend his title June 22 at big cage against Challenger Joe (Bomber) Louis.

Braddock, accompanied by Manager Joe Gould, visited Washington Park race track in Chicago, where the track had named its car in the titleholder's honor. A dher and a birthday cake roundabout the anniversary celebration.

The heavyweight claim claim to be in far better condition than when he lifted the crown from Max Baer two years ago, his last hit. He will golf Tuesday and Wednesday take a light boxing workout.

SALEM POLOISTS LOSE IN OPENER TO AKRON SQUAD
Player Injured As Akron Cowboys Win In Last Chukker, 12-10

The Salem Polo club went down to defeat in its first game of the 1937 season out at Old Fairgrounds field yesterday, dropping a 12 to 10 decision to the Akron Cowboys in an anip and tuck battle in which the score was tied in every one of the six chukkers and one player was injured.

The Cowboys gained the verdict in the final chukker, scoring three goals to the Salem's one after the count had been deadlocked at 9-9 at the end of the fifth period.

Marring the otherwise perfect opening game for the Salem club was the injury to Vernon Patterson, veteran Akron poloist. Patterson was accidentally hit with a mallet during a melee in the fifth chukker and suffered a bad gash below his lower lip. He was removed from the game and taken to City Hospital for treatment.

Player Injured As Akron Cowboys Win In Last Chukker, 12-10

The Salem Polo club went down to defeat in its first game of the 1937 season out at Old Fairgrounds field yesterday, dropping a 12 to 10 decision to the Akron Cowboys in an anip and tuck battle in which the score was tied in every one of the six chukkers and one player was injured.

The Cowboys gained the verdict in the final chukker, scoring three goals to the Salem's one after the count had been deadlocked at 9-9 at the end of the fifth period.

Marring the otherwise perfect opening game for the Salem club was the injury to Vernon Patterson, veteran Akron poloist. Patterson was accidentally hit with a mallet during a melee in the fifth chukker and suffered a bad gash below his lower lip. He was removed from the game and taken to City Hospital for treatment.

Chick Barr, hard-riding and clever star of the Akron Cavalry polo team, was recruited from the sidelines to replace the injured Patterson. Barr, who has played with many of the game's top-rankers and participated in several national tournaments, provided the spark which boosted the Cowboys to victory. He scored once in the fifth chukker to tie the score at 9-9, then added another goal in the last frame.

Harvey Green, heavy-set back, was the big gun in the Cowboys triumph, scoring six goals, two of these in the last chukker when the outcome of the game was decided. Otherwise, Green tallied twice in the first period and once each in the second and third frames.

The play of Jim Pidgeon and Brooke (Pete) Votaw was outstanding for Salem with Pidgeon scoring five goals and showing good defensive ability and Votaw tallying four times. The other Salem score was made on a pony goal in the second period.

Raymond Moff and Buck Miller, who alternated in playing No. 1 position for Salem, turned in good offensive and defeated work for the team, but failed to score.

At no time during the contest, was the score one-sided. The lead see-sawed back and forth with neither team ever out in front by more than one goal.

At the close of the first period, but at the end of each of the other chukkers, except the last, the score was tied.

Injury To War Admiral May End His Racing For Season

NEW YORK, June 7.—Winner of the coveted "triple crown" of American racing—one of the few feats his famous sire never achieved—War Admiral, Samuel Riddle's speedy little son of Man O' War, probably has lost his chance to become one of the turf's great money winning three-year-olds.

The colt proved his gameness and staying power in a record-smashing victory in the Belmont stakes before a crowd of 35,000 Saturday, but a stumble at the start left him with a leg injury that probably will keep him from racing again this season.

Just as he broke from the barrier after nervously delaying the start, the Admiral "grabbed" his right foreleg and almost went down. He recovered and went on to win the grueling mile and one-half race by an even wider margin than he had won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness. His time of 2:28 3-5 equalled the American record for the distance.

The American record was first made by Handy Mandy under only 109 pounds at Latonia in 1927. When he returned to the stable of Maxwell Howard's Sceneshifter after finishing four lengths in front and 14 ahead of an outsider, Harry P. Guggenheim's Vamoose, the colt was covered with blood and had a wound the size of a half dollar on his right foreleg. He was barely able to put a little weight on the leg yesterday and his trainer, 65-year-old George Conway, was fearful of infection.

"I don't see how he can be brought back to the races before fall and even that is very doubtful," Conway said.

The Belmont victory was worth $38,020 to the owner Riddle and brought the colt's earnings to $144,620 this year and $159,420 for his two year career.

War Admiral not only conclusively proved his superiority to his Derby and Preakness rival, Pomonio, in the Belmont but became the fourth horse ever to win the triple crown. His predecessors were Sir Barton, 1919, Gallant Fox (1930) and Omaha (1935).

Pomponio finished sixth behind Brooklyn and Flying Scot.
